Professor Shepard's Discourse — The State of Maine, a good State.

[A friend has furnished us with the following report, from phonographic notes of Rev. Dr. Shepard's Thanksgiving Sermon, delivered at the Hammond Street Church.]

TEXT—Psalms, 16th, 6th. — The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places, yea, I have a goodly heritage.

It may seem to some as somewhat forced and extravagant to consider those words as applying to us, who live here in the State of Maine. Such an accommodation in the use of the text they may consider violent, forced, and monstrous in the extreme. As a resident of this State, I have often been struck, when abroad, at the signs of surprise and almost commiserating looks and expressions called forth by the statement that I lived in the State of Maine. How a person can live away down there, and retain his civilization and the comforts of life, is altogether a mystery. "The State of Maine!" why it is all coldness and barbarity and sterility, and the country is taken up by one huge mass of rock and mountain.

Strange as it may seem to many abroad, and perhaps to some of you to whom I now speak, I announce as the subject of our Thanksgiving day sermon 'The State of Maine,' confident that there are many ready to join with me in the repetition of the text.

It will be perceived that my subject is a large one, and in the time allowed me, can only be touched here and there on the surface, and the speaker must be pardoned if in his rambles he should leap from point to another, with the speed of the lightning of the iron horse which courses from one end of our State to the other.

We will consider first its greatness, that there is so much of it, and it being all very good, it follows that its greatness is a matter to be thankful for. Extending from the 43d to the 47th parallel of latitude, it contains an area of 35,000 square miles. It has some three hundred miles of sea coast, indented with some of the finest bays and harbors in the world, and though it falls somewhat short in the size of its mountains, yet it can make up in quality what it wants in quantity. We have a great variety of scenery—rocks, mountains and streams,—the beautiful and the sublime. There are also the variegations of the seasons we have clearly marked by Spring the Summer, the Autumn and the Winter, and it is the change that is taking place from one to the other that makes it so pleasant. Very few of us would care to live where the climate passes on to one always a prairie-like sameness always warm and never cold. We can get many a gem of goodness from out of our hard, heavy coat,—and we do certainly have some of this sort of weather, so that a person might sometimes cry enough. There are some days that do this service for us, and further than with a satisfactory interpretation of that text in the Psalms, and also preach a sermon upon it, causing the applause to go to our very vitals, —Who can withstand his cold? And yet it affords a greater amount of time for literary and social enjoyment than the same amount of time in the warm season. The people scatter in the warm season, and their minds scatter too,—but in the Winter they get up again. We may perhaps wish our climate short of its rigor—but it is the climate which put the vigor into the people. It nourishes a people which for a strength and hardihood as not to be surpassed, if equalled, by any in the world, and if to be strong and hardy is a blessing, then is our climate a blessing.

Our resources are also numerous. The babbling brooks which leap down our hills, furnish great privileges for the manufacturer—The forests, next one of the State shows by its luxuriant growth of timber, its almost unequalled capacity for rewarding the toils of the agriculturist. It is a land of iron, but not of gold and here is a point at which we may stop and be thankful—for the cry for gold is always the cry for blood.

One other thought I would here present. It is the usual old means offered of gaining the comforts of life. If a man does not like this mode of living let him fish for that, if he does not like to dig let him fish, but work he must, after some of the wholesome fashions. This blessing of God obtains in our State in full force—for the produce from of the earth come forth only by the greatest toil, living and to excess do not go well together here but rather are a course.

I have thus far spoken only of the rigor of our climate—but we have as well as others, the warm and glorious sun, and the fathers of our city were going up name at Shabowy, but having left the business of getting the city charter in the hands of a Rev. gentlemen, he struck out the word Sunbury and inserted Bangor instead, in honor of a town of which he was very fond.

But to proceed with my subject. We find cause for gratitude in the fact that the early English attempts to settle Maine proved abortive. The men who came over were not of the right stamp. They were men of idleness—broken down gentlemen who aspired after wealth, but were unwilling to work. They were holden by sordid motives, and possessed none of the qualities necessary for founding a State. It is also a matter of gratitude that God's providence was against the early French settlements. But our ancestors were Puritans, who were made of al together different sort of stuff,—good stuff of which to make States, of which to make freemen, independent in their manhood. God's providence in this respect has led to one of the best features in our laws, namely that every one may worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. They have left churches in which we find the primitive freedom, the same doctrine and the same forms of worship I love Maine because the freedom, the doctrine and the institutions of the fathers are here. And for one I will never turn my back on the noble men who made us, but will glory in them, and will stand forever on the old Plymouth Rock.

The system of education as well as religion has come to us from the same stock. The principle that the rich shall help educate the poor is worthy of all praise. The school system of Maine and the schools under that system will compare well with any of these in the sister States. There is, however, one institution which is not to educate but to degrade men, and which is better known in more sunny parts, which will not flourish in Maine in view of this let us never cease to give thanks for the rigors of our atmosphere, which enact forever as a holy law the 'Wilmot Proviso.'

Ours is a State of even roads, which, according to a Connecticut divine, is an honor to civilization. We have roads with no turnpike and no tax to the traveller—free to those who have worn the chains of slavery, and when any poor fellow is seen therein, running under the patronage of certain men of the North and South, running to get possession of his own bones, I think there is no one who does not wish him success.

All that I have said thus far concerns our State as it is. There is another topic, that I wish to touch, and that is, our State as it may be. We might draw an inference from what has got before, that if Maine has the good qualities which have been named, or any part of them, then ought the people to be contented with their lot. Not that if a person did not do well here he might not try elsewhere, but if a person is doing well here let him not push off. Maine brings up many sons, and I will not say they turn their backs on her, but they leave her and go away into other States, to seek their fortune. Many are brought up here and live here a certain length of time, and then think they are too far advanced to stay here longer. You are aware the many drafts have been made upon us in this way. There are many who will go where they can make the most money, even if it be on the edge of Sodom, with a fair prospect before them of being swallowed up in it. Ministers, you know, love to such privileges, they are not allowed the change that John Gipsy allowed his horse, 'it is for your pleasure I came here, now you must go back for mine.' Now in all this hurry for a change, let there be some curbing of the desires. I am well aware that the very climate itself does us some harm in this connection. It is so live gorating and so exciting that people are not willing to go on in an even way. It is with them very much as it was with Capt Smith, who, in the early history of the State, was sent on to the coast to catch fish. He got very few, because, he has said, 'the spermacetti most of the season in trying to catch whales.' This is the case with the people who make haste to be rich—going in for great things,—striking for whales, and many have been made to say in the words of the same old captain that 'after all, this whale fishing is a rather costly conclusion.' Never perhaps, in any equal period of our history, has there been so much haste to be rich, and to collect wealth about one's self in so great heaps, never has there been so much breaking up and changing of residences as at present. There are thousands and thousands that were brought up in this State, who to-day are not here. But it is my opinion that, take the aggregate of prosperity of all those who have left our State and compare it with the aggregate of prosperity of those who have remained at home and spread, and it would be found in favor of the latter.

In closing let me say, establish and uphold capacious libraries, thus garnering up food for the mind. Let the higher institutions, the colleges and the professional seminaries be upheld and supported. We must have them for our own, and as we must have them, we must not have mean, beggarly ones. And above all cherish the gospel in its truth and simplicity, hold to the Puritan forms of doctrine and of worship. By this you are laying the foundation on which to build a noble structure.

The war between the democratic organs at Bath now turns chiefly upon the time when the editors respectively received their "revelation" of modern democracy. The "Organ" man claims to have been hopefully converted to the faith (not delivered to the saints) at the time when John Tyler was kicked overboard by the Whig party. "Bro Clarke" of the Tribune, he says, only came in "last year, after the Straightouts were annihilated. Thus it seems that one of these editors embraced democracy as the next best thing to Tylerism—and the other regarded it as the legitimate landing place for the hunker portion of the Straight Whigs. They are both right,—and are now packed very properly in the same basket. They shouldn't try to kick each other out.

The Organ man's boast that he is "democratically" as old as John Babson, is injudicious. The association is not in good odor.

At the time of our recent election the Aurora editors concluded to put of their "democratic" victory from 1857 to 1858. They are now beginning to postpone it from 1858 to 1859. Smith, of the Belfast Free Press, says that certain liberal views must first be adopted by the readers, and he don't expect they will be before 1862. The trouble, brother Smart, is that your folks are already too liberal—towards slavery—and are getting more so every day.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE.—We are indebted to the courtesy of a member of the Faculty, for a new and beautifully printed and embellished catalogue of this institution. Notwithstanding the prevalent stringency of the times, this College appears to be in a flourishing condition. The number of Students is large, amounting to fifty five in the Medical, and one hundred and ninety-nine in the Literary Department. Six of the latter (but none of the former) hailing from Bangor.

An elegant engraving of the College buildings adds greatly to the appearance of the catalogue, which is alike creditable to the College, and to Mr. Griffin the College printer.

A BRAVE WOMAN.—An attempt was recently made to rob the house of Mr. Eben Warren of Durham, in his absence. The robbers knocked at the door in the evening, Mrs. Warren, who was alone in the house, asked who was there. The reply was "Rich," meaning Richmond a brother of her husband. The woman answered "that cannot be, for Richmond is in Boston—what do you want?" "We want to come in," was the response. "But you cannot come in, and if you do not leave at once I will call my husband, said Mrs. Warren. "Your husband is away at work at Mechanic Falls, and we will come in," was the villain's rejoinder. Thereupon they commenced an attack upon the door, and had partially opened it, when Mrs. Warren threatened to split open the head of the first person that entered, she having armed herself with an axe. The villians retreated and fled.

The attempt was instigated by a report that Mr. Warren had money in a strong box in his house.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONER SYSTEM.—There is much feeling in some parts of the State in favor of some reform in the present system of managing county affairs.

The last number of the Oxford Democrat says:

We are glad to learn that a petition was circulated in the Court House, on Tuesday afternoon, requesting our legislature to repeal all existing laws providing for the appointment of County Commissioners, and such as prescribe their powers, duties and jurisdiction, or so to modify them as to relieve the people from that unnecessary and oppressive taxation to which they are now subjected under the operation of said laws. We understand that the petition was signed by every member of the bar then attending court, and that, too, without distinction of party. We hope petitions will be sent from all parts of the State—that the legislature will be called upon, in a voice that cannot be misunderstood and will not be disregarded, to provide against the effect of this rotten, and, as we believe, universally detested system.

Douglas's organ, the Chicago Times denounces the proceedings of the bogus Convention of Kansas, and says a bill for a new convention will be introduced in Congress at once.

Meantime Washington despatches say that President Buchanan approves the action of the bogus Convention, as calculated to quiet existing troubles.

We do not see how the administration, or the democratic party, can repudiate the action of that Convention, after having constantly recognized the legality of that body. If the new outrage upon freedom should be successfully resisted by any action of Congress, it will be by the Republican party, and a portion of the democracy sliced off by Douglas who is figuring for the support of the north for the Presidential nomination.

HUMOROUS BISHOP ON TRUST.—There were painful rumors on State street yesterday that the principal member of one of the largest commission houses in the city, who are the agents for, two large manufacturing corporations, and who are authorized to use the name of these corporations on promissory notes, has used the paper of one of these corporations, with the endorsement of the firm, for his own private speculations. The party thus implicated is Mr Samuel Lawrence, who has acted as Treasurer of the Bay State Mills.

The amount of the breach of trust thus committed, according to current rumor, is from $300 000 to $600,000. We give the rumor as generally circulated in the street, but trust that it will appear that the gentleman implicated, and who is widely respected by the community, has not acted without authority from the parties interested.

The effect of the rumor on State street has been to make it almost impossible to negotiate any paper to day.

One version of the affair is that Mr. Lawrence has issued notes of the corporations for which his firm were agents, to a large amount without the knowledge of the Directors, with which he has purchased the stock of the corporation at the present depreciation, for the purpose of private speculation. Such a transaction would admit of explanation without the supposition of a breach of trust. Some of the rumors implicate in the matter the firm with which Mr. Lawrence is connected—others only Mr Lawrence.—Boston Journal.

Snook's mother and old Mrs. Stubbs were talking about little babies. "Why," said Mrs Snooks, "when I was a baby they put me in a quart pot and then put the lid on."

"And did you live?" was the astonished inquiry.

"They tell me I did," was the astonishing reply.

"Well, and did you ever!" said Mrs. Stubbs fall to knitting.

A DUKE OR HORNOCS.—Kinglo, in his volume of travels in Europe gives the following account of apartments in the castle of the Duke of Baden-Baden, Germany.

"But the underground 'apartments possess fearful interest. With lighted torches we went down into the center of the place, thence by a spiral inclined plane, we went down, down, until by a door of one huge flag, fitted to its place and remarkable exactness, we entered a small oval room perhaps ten feet in diameter and hewn out of the solid rock. The door was shut behind us, and we were under the mountain. A ray of light came from above, and we looked up as through a narrow chimney, a stone was removed from beneath our feet, and we could look down perhaps two or three hundred feet, and could see a glimmer of light upon a dashing current: whose murmurings come to us from beneath. And all around the room were seats cut out of the rock. And what was the object and history of this awful room?

Its history, as given by our guide, within its walls, is briefly as follows: In the days of feudal inclemency and inquisitorial piety, if one suspected of political or religious heresy were suddenly seized and confined in one of the adjacent cells. The little room above described was the room of judgement, and the judges were let down by machinery through the opening above. The accused was then introduced and the heavy stone was shut. And there shut out from every eye, save those of God and their judges, they were tried. If not guilty, the accused were hated of feared, which made sequestral worse than guilt. When condemned they were commanded to kiss the image of the Virgin in the apartment in he movement they touched springs which caused her to emb ace them, and in the embrace to pierce them through with daggers. Then a trap was sprung beneath their feet, which let their bodies fall upon a wheel armed with knives, which was kept in constant revolution by a stream of water. By these knives they were cut in pieces, and the mutilated fragments fell into the stream below.

And there we were receiving this awful narrative in the very apartment where these atrocities were committed in the name of justice and religion, with the tunnel beneath us through which the bodies of their victims were let down for mutulation, so as to be beyond the reach of recognition! For a moment our blood ran cold, and we were filled with horror. Or, if these stone walls could speak—If the injunction of perpetual secrecy were removed by Him who upheaved the mountain, what an awful narrative they would give of the scenes of treachery, hatred and blood, there perpetrated in the name of God and religion.

"SUNDAY CORN."—An American infidel boasting in a published letter that he had raised two acres of "Sunday corn," which he intended to devote to the purchase of infidel books, adds: "All the work done on it was done on Sunday, and it will yield some seventy bushels to the acre, so I don't see but that Nature and Providence has smiled on my Sunday work, however the priests or the Bible may say that work done on that day never prospers. My corn tells another story." To this the editor of an agricultural paper replies, "If the author of this shallow nonsense had read the bible half so much as he has the works of its opponents, he would have known that the great Ruler of the universe does not always square up his accounts with mankind in the month of October."

PAROL EVIDENCE.—Old Zachariah Rubbins lived in Wood county, Mass, and was called on to prove the insanity of a young man on trial for an assault with intent to kill. He swore that he had no doubt whatever that the prisoner was an insane man. On his cross examination he was required to state the reasons for his opinion.

"Why, bless your life," said he, "I've known Jimmy allers, and he's allers been a Dimicrat, and when the Dimicrat party put up their man last fall, Jimmy didn't vote for him and I allers think that a Dimicrat that don't stick to his party ain't in his right mind!"

Jimmy was acquitted, for old Zachariah's opinion prevails very generally in that region.

GOLD DISCOVERED.—Considerable excitement was lately caused at Onthenagon by the arrival of a party of Indians from the head waters of the Menominee river, bringing with them a remarkable rich specimens of gold-bearing quartz. They represented that the country was rich in the same species of mineral. Some of the leading mining men of Onthenagon, after examining the specimens, formed an agreement with the Indians to guide them to the place from which they procured the specimens and also to keep the matter a secret for the present. The heavy snows which have fallen will perhaps prevent the expedition from reaching its destination this fall.

"Where are you from, asked a lady of an Irish woman that presented herself for the situation of cook.

"I came clane from Albany marm."

"Then I must say you had a very dirty passage for you are far from being clean now.

☞Extract of a letter received from Rev. B C Thomas, Tavoy.

Messrs. P Davis & Son. Dear Bros.—The Karens here have become acquainted with your medicine, and their demand for it is to me very surprising. I have now by me orders for more than fifty bottles, I therefore wish you to send me a quantity, and I will pay you through the Treasurer of the Missionary Union. There is no medicine which stands so high in the estimation of the Karens of these provinces as your Pain Killer, and I feel willing to gratify them, as I entertain a very high opinion of its worth.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON:—I find it necessary to address you again as my most sanguine expectations have been more than realized. The call for your valuable medicine is increasing so very rapidly that I fear I shall soon be unable to keep pace with it. I object in writing now is to beg that on receipt of this you will kindly despatch another batch as ordered in my letter of June last. I hope I will not be entirely out before your first shipment reaches me of which, however, I have not yet heard from you. Yours sincerely,

A Perfect Cure, and no Mistake

From the Editor of the New York Mirror, Aug 0

About four weeks since one of the compositors of this office was suffering badly from a cough that he was unable to sleep nights, and too weak to stand at his case. He became very pale and thin, and gave symptoms of falling a victim to quick consumption. We recommended to him various and clever which had no effect. Finally we gave him one bottle of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. It afforded him immediate relief, and he is now well and in the best of spirits. The symptoms of a cough. These are facts and further particulars may be learned at this office. We should add that the cough in the above case was accompanied by profuse spitting of blood.

Owing to some recent improvements among the steamers of this city, Commissioner Gen. The weather at Albany is clear and cold.—Considerable snow has fallen at Niagara Falls and Buffalo, but there is no obstruction to navigation on the canal or travel on Railroads.

The Weather.

ALBANY, Nov. 21.

There has been a great change in the weather within the last 12 hours; it is now very cold and stormy. At the department it is thought that the canal will close in about two weeks.

Removal.

E. F. PLAISTED, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon,

Has removed his Residence and Office to Hammond Street, nearly opposite the Hammond Street Church, where he may be consulted at all hours, unless otherwise professionally engaged.

Dr. P. will continue to pay particular attention to diseases of the Chest, those of the Lungs, Throat and Heart. Two years attendance and close attention given to those diseases, under the most eminent German physicians in Philadelphia, and his thorough knowledge of the sciences of Auscultation and Percussion, enables him to detect the slightest deviations in those organs from their healthy condition.

His experience and success in the treatment of Lung difficulties, especially, give great confidence in his ability to give most entire satisfaction to all who may request his services.

Patients coming from a distance, wishing to remain any length of time under his care, can be accommodated with apartments at his residence.

THRICE WEEKLY

Kennebec Journal for 1858.

During the approaching session of the Legislature the undersigned will continue the publication of the THRICE-WEEKLY JOURNAL, being the XIVth Volume of the same.

As is well known, the chief purpose of this paper is to afford the people of Maine a faithful account of the deliberations and actions of its Legislature. With the reports of the Legislative doings we intend also to publish the proceedings of Congress, as they are given in the best reports from Washington.

We look with confidence to our Republican friends throughout the State to aid us in obtaining subscribers. Especially do we solicit from each Republican member of the Legislature that personal effort in his locality without which a respectable list cannot be secured.

The Thrice-Weekly Journal will be published on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings.

The price will be $4

Single Copy, One Dollar for the Session,

As usual, payable in advance. Any person forwarding us $8 shall be entitled to the ninth copy extra. For $10 we will send two copies extra; for $20 three copies extra.

It is desirable that the names of subscribers accompanied with the money, may be forwarded at or before the commencement of the session—Money remitted by mail at our risk.

STEVENS & SAYWARD.

Augusta, Nov 10, 1857

Thrice-Weekly Age, for 1857.

We propose to issue the 21st volume of the Thrice-Weekly Age during the session of the coming Legislature.

To enable us to do this without a very great pecuniary loss it is absolutely necessary, that our friends throughout the State, for whose gratification and benefit the publication is made, should aid in giving us a good list of subscribers.

The comparatively small number of Democratic members of the Legislature renders this service in our behalf doubly requisite this year, and we therefore confidently rely upon receiving it.

The character of the Thrice-Weekly Age is so well known, that we deem it needless to add any thing more.

The terms will be $3, in advance, for the session. Postmasters, or others, who will forward us the names of ten subscribers and the $10, shall receive a copy in addition.

It is very desirable that the lists should be forwarded as early as the first of January.

FLOUR,

Wheat Meal & Shorts,

The subscriber has commenced manufacturing FLOUR in one of the best Wheat growing sections of the West. His purchases of Wheat are made by agents going among the farmers and selecting the choicest parcels of White Winter Wheat, for which a extra price is paid, rejecting all other kinds and all inferior qualities. Attached to his Mill are the latest improvements. The Wheat is thoroughly cleansed before grinding, and the Flour is double bolted before packing. The whole contents of the Wheat are transported to Bangor by Railroad, in Flour of four different qualities, in unbolted wheat meal, and in shorts. A car load, 100 bbls, will arrive weekly, so that customers can be supplied at all times with Flour and Meal, fresh ground within ten days. The meal is in bags, consequently not injured by packing 100 lbs. in a barrel as is the usual practice. This Flour and Meal will be found to have the fresh flavor of pure new Wheat; not having been heated in large piles or in vessels; as is the case with nearly all the wheat manufactured in the large establishments for the large markets.

Dealers can be accommodated with a weekly supply on favorable terms, upon application to the subscriber, Office No. 27 West Market Place. Samples may be seen at the Stores of JOHN McLAUGHLIN, No. 40 West Market place, O. D. HOLT & SON, Broad Street, HELLIKER & HERRIMAN, Hammond-st; GOODWIN & WEBSTER, head of Exchange Street.

COAL

and Gas Burning

MacGregor's Ventilating

STOVES.

THE reputation which this Stove has attained in the United States during the last six years, is a sufficient mention of its character as a complete Philosophical Mechanism, superior to either Hot Water or Steam, because, of its simplicity, its easy management and control, and more especially its economy and the mild and healthy atmosphere it produces and diffuses.

The heat is thrown into the large cylinder drum of the air chamber, and thus does not become so heated as to burn or destroy the oxygen of the atmosphere. They can be regulated as to give any degree of heat required, and will keep for Anthracite Coal burners, twenty-four hours, as thoroughly as a wood fire or open Franklin.

The fire may be continued from one to three days without replenishing, and for months without clearing out or requiring the use of charcoal or wood to re-kindle.

10 pounds of coal has been found sufficient to warm a common sized apartment twenty-four hours in the coldest weather.

Manufactured and for sale by the subscribers.

Alpine Hair Balm,

—FOR—

Restoring Gray Hair to its Original Color

WARRANTED to cure Baldness, Scurf, Dandruff, Itching, and all diseases of the skin. This Balm gives the scalp new and healthy action, restores the coloring matter to the roots of the Hair, which passes through the Hair and gives it a natural color without the use of Hair Dye.

Hundreds of preparations have been introduced, pretending to preserve the Hair and keep it from falling off, composed of Oils, Alcohol, and other deleterious materials, and all to no use. Hair dyes have been introduced that do not give the Hair a natural color, besides being found to be use. This Balm is not a Dye. Knowing that a preparation was needed to do what was required for the Hair, the proprietor was induced to experiment until he could obtain an article that would be the exact remedy, and after seven years trial has perfected this Balm. It is soothing and emollient, allays all irritation of the scalp, thereby stopping that troublesome itching. It cures Dandruff, and Scurf, and when the hair has turned grayit will bring it back to its original color, be it Black, Brown or Auburn. It makes the Hair soft and glossy, prevents it from falling off, as will be seen upon trying the Balm for only a few days—life will be given to the roots of the Hair, and green will soon appear. Growth will not take place at the end of the Hair, as will be seen in persons who have had their hair dyed. If you discover a gray hair that has been colored for a week, you will find, towards the roots, that the hair has come out gray, hence this necessary to have the fluid at the roots of the hair healthy, that the whole hair may be a natural color. Each hair has a root in the skin, and is of tight a hollow, gray tube, thro' which there is a constant circulation of the pigment from the root. When this pigment or coloring matter dies out, it leaves the hair hollow, and it becomes gray. To invent a Balm that would produce this pigment has become the study of the proprietor. The discovery of the Alpine Hair Balm will do it. It will bring the hair to its natural color by look, as when the coloring matter in the roots of the hair.

It is a mistaken notion that oil or grease will restore the hair, as nothing can be more injurious. The Alpine Hair Balm will restore the skin and save the hair of those who have been sick with fever or any other disease.

American & Foreign Patents.

E. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under act of 1837,

76 State Street, opposite Kilby-st.,

BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal opinions rendered in all matters touching the same.—Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by any if not unquestionably superior to any that can be offered elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that no one is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides a extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of Patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, if one is apparent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, Mr. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business, at the Patent Office, as Solicitor, for procuring patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had as much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more ability, fidelity and success. I remember Mr. Eddy, as one of the most industrious and meritorious practitioners of the United States, and have no hesitation in awarding him that character cannot confer a person more competent and responsible, and more capable of pushing their applications through to secure for them the most favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

CELEBRATED

THE GREAT

Remedy for Pulmonary Consumption.

Also, an effectual cure for Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Obstinate Cutaneous Eruptions, Chronic Rheumatism, Bilious Disorders, General Debility, and all diseases depending on an impure state of the blood.

THIS WONDERFUL REMEDY has done more to alleviate human suffering than all other means put together. It has the greatest sale of any medicine in the world for Pulmonary Complaints, from Maine to the most remote dwellings of Oregon, or wherever Consumption is known, it finds its way, carrying health and joy into thousands of families. The most eminent physicians have been forced to acknowledge that it does cure consumption; and they now use it in their practice as the safest and most sure remedy.

There is no remedy equal to it in our climate, that under the influence of various disagreeable changes, or exposures, has run, down or lost its natural tone and vigor. Its great secret is its power to reach the blood, to arrest the pulsated pulse, and arrest the deposit of tubercle in the lungs; and it is as safe as it is certain in its action.

Some poor sufferer, full of anxiety and doubt in regard to what we say, may ask, Can your medicine restore a portion of lung that disease has entirely destroyed, leaving a cavity? We answer, certainly not, neither is this necessary in order to effect a perfect cure. If the treatment be commenced in season, but little or no portion of the lung is lost. It is necessary only to arrest the cause, and when this is done, the concrete substance deposited in the tissues of the lung, technically known as tubercles, becomes absorbed, leaving, perhaps, a little cellarage as substance which is quite harmless, and the patient finds himself in possession of whole lungs and sound health. But suppose the disease is not arrested at this early stage. The softened tubercle produces irritation, the irritation brings on inflammation of that part of the lung, the inflammation leads to ulceration, and the destruction of a portion of the tissue is the result; a cavity is formed which enlarges and does its work of death, unless the deposit of tubercle is arrested. Now, does your remedy effect a cure? Most assuredly it does. As soon as the disease is arrested, the morbid matter is absorbed or expectorated, and nature either furnishes the cavity with a lining membrane, or what is more common, where it is of large size, it wells full of flesh and heal up, leaving a scar, and the remaining portion of the respiratory apparatus, true to a law running through the whole physical economy, becomes commodiously enlarged, takes on increased action, and faithfully compensates for that which has been lost.

Prices.—One box $3.00, three boxes, ordered at one time $8.00, half dozen $14.00, one dozen or any number greater, at the rate of $2.00 a box.

The postage in the United States not over 3000 miles, in addition costs a box; over 3000 miles, fifty cents a box. In all cases the amount should be inclosed in money or stamps. I am responsible for all money sent me by mail.

GRINDLE'S

ANCIENT AND CELEBRATED

JAPANESE LIFE PILLS.

NATURE'S OWN REMEDY.

A positive Cure for Liver Complaint and Bilious Disorders, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Cutaneous Diseases, Fever and Ague, Cutaneous Dysentery and Diarrhœa, Worms, Suppression of the Menses, Nervous Debility, &c.

FOR a long time we have been compelled to witness with painful emotion, the many adulterated and life destroying drugs made into pills and liquid medicines, and put into use by them without knowing their injurious effects upon their system. This monstrous evil may now be entirely escaped by using only these ANCIENT JAPANESE LIFE PILLS and our MAGIC COMPOUND. For many years we have studied hard to find a cathartic which, while it purged, would throw out disease, and not more secretions alone; would remove and strengthen, and not deplete and weaken the system. This we have found.

We do not hesitate to say, that this so much sought for remedy—a cathartic of mild and pleasant operation, certainly throwing out disease, and not mere secretions alone; would remove and strengthen, and not deplete and weaken the system, has been found.

We say unhesitatingly say, that this so much sought for remedy—a cathartic of mild and pleasant operation, certainly throwing out disease, and not mere secretions, thoroughly purifying the blood, and immediately strengthening the system—has been found. They will not only relieve but positively cure every disease for which they are recommended. These Pills have stood the test of the ingenious Japanese Family for centuries, and the same kind of ingredients that composed the Pills at that ancient time are continued to the present day.

No medicine except our MAGIC COMPOUND ever met with such unbounded success in so short a time, and the thousands of orders pouring in for them from all parts of the country is wonderful and astonishing! The number of these PILLS being used by females alone for the various complaints incident to their arduous duties—They are not the "female pills" so much puffed into public notice, which, instead of curing, produce cruel and dangerous complaints, but are for male or female, old or young, and cure by acting directly on diseases.

The PILLS are sent by mail, from the Proprietor only, on receipt of the price. The postage in the United States, not over 3000 miles, is fifteen cents on five boxes, which must be inclosed in money or stamps. We are responsible for all moneys sent to us by mail.
